COMMERCIAL PAINTING

BACKGROUND

Cook Children's approached us over a decade ago for a small interior repaint project at one of their facilities. Stephens Commercial completed the project on-time and on-budget. This led to more projects and now an ongoing, customized maintenance painting program for the DFW-based healthcare company.

SOLUTION

Based on Stephens Commercial Painting's repeated success on several projects, the operations team at Cook Children's realized there was a greater opportunity to partner together. The client began working closely with Stephens to tackle a wider range of repaint projects – from interior to exterior, across various facilities. Based on this, Stephens proposed a customized maintenance painting plan to be proactive vs reactive.

RESULTS

Cook Children's is extremely satisfied with the ongoing work by the entire crew at Stephens. The maintenance plan has led to less business disruption, consistent budgeting, and better overall looking facilities, by being proactive.
